Quota International Receives Communicator Award for Third Year

(Washington, D.C) For the third year, the Communicator Awards recognized Quota International's 2004 Quotarian magazine. The magazine received the prestigious Award of Distinction as a project that exceeds industry standards.

The Communicator Awards recognize outstanding work in the communication field and are judged by industry professionals who look for companies and individuals whose talent exceeds a high standard of excellence and whose work serves as a benchmark for the industry. Entries for these awards came from 3,730 advertising agencies, corporations, educational institutions, government entities, designers, writers, and businesses worldwide.

Quota International is an 84-year-old international service organization that links members of all ages, occupations, and nationalities in a worldwide network of service and friendship. The Quotarian highlights Quota volunteer efforts throughout the world.
