

WELCOME

Welcome to the world of Quota International New Club Gardeners! As a New Club Gardener, you have the opportunity to give the greatest gift of service you can give. When you think of all the lives a new club can touch—through service projects, fundraisers, and friendships within and between clubs—you can see why organizing a new Quota club is one of the most rewarding and powerful things you can do as a member of Quota International.

This is an especially exciting time to create a new club, as you are joining an international effort: Quota's Centennial Service and Growth Project aims to grow 100 new clubs by our organization's 100th anniversary in 2019. Thank you for your willingness and resolve to bring the Quota experience into the lives of others and take part in this global endeavor.

We know that creating a new club is a tremendous undertaking. Our organization appreciates your work, and the Quota International staff and leadership is always here to help! We are pleased to provide this manual and a variety of materials and resources to help you get started, but please know that we are just an e-mail or phone call away, and you can always reach out to us with your Quota questions.

Thank you for bringing our organization into the lives of new members and a new community! With your efforts, the Quota garden is sure to flourish and bloom for years to come.

Kathleen Treiber, CAE
Executive Director

Beris Pritchard
Liaison to the South Pacific Area