Quota International Membership Magazine Honored with MarCom Award

(Washington, D.C.)—For the fifth straight year, Quota International’s annual membership magazine has been recognized for quality, creativity, and resourcefulness in the MarCom Awards 2007 competition. The Quotarian received a Gold Award for exceeding high industry standards in the Magazine/Non-Profit category, one of just 18 percent of the over 5,000 entries to be so honored. Administered and judged by the Association of Marketing and Communication Professionals, the competition celebrates marketing and communications work that exceeds high standards of excellence and establishes industry benchmarks. It is one of the largest awards competitions of its kind in the world.

The Quotarian has been published every year since the inception of Quota International, an 88 year-old international service organization that links members of all ages, occupations, and nationalities in a worldwide network of service and friendship. Its charitable arm, the We Share Foundation, supports members by operating service programs, awarding grants, and offering technical support, education, information, and publications.

Publications like the Quotarian provide the information and inspiration to link together members of 300 clubs in 14 countries around the globe. The 2007 award-winning edition included a feature story on the organization’s work with the United Nations and other international non-government organizations, updates on club activities and the Club-to-Club World Service Program that supports vital projects in developing countries, and a centerfold photograph that won first prize in the We Share Foundation's International Photography competition.
